Problem Statement

Individuals and small organizations may spend significant time preparing routine legal document drafts. Existing drafting processes can require specialized knowledge, repeated formatting, and manual copying of clauses. LegalEase addresses this by providing a guided interface where users enter document type, parties, terms and effective date, and receive an AI-generated draft.

Target Users

Students, freelancers, small businesses, service providers, and other users who need a starting draft for common legal documents. LegalEase is a drafting aid and does not replace review by a qualified legal professional.

Success Criteria

The application should accept valid inputs, generate a coherent draft through the configured Gemini API, preview the result, allow editing, and export the final text as TXT, DOCX or PDF.
